ACTIVITY ONE

The rest of this week, we're going to focus on racial profiling and discrimination in policing. Watch the short documentary on evidence based and predictive policing. The Ring program is fascinating! Please answer all three questions in your response.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=DAoe22-r-QQ> (Links to an external site.)

- 1) What part of this piece did you find most interesting and why?
- 2) What part of this piece did you find most disturbing and why?
- 3) Do you feel these programs increase or decrease racial discrimination in policing? Explain your thinking.

ACTIVITY TWO

This is due MONDAY. I want to give you ample time to read these sources closely and really analyze the material. I've given you a document for note taking and then you'll be asked to respond to a couple questions in a well written, paragraph form response.

IN EACH SET, choose ONE of the three articles below and respond to the prompts. The first set is survey and research data. The second set is solution based articles. Feel free to read them all if you want but you only have to respond to two. These are six very different articles. Let me quickly summarize...

Set one- research and survey data

1) Survey data of officers on race and policing 2) Survey data of Americans on race and policing 3) Do police tend to react differently to things like baggy jeans, backwards hats, etc

Set two- solutions

1) Treat racial issues like a public health crisis 2) Impact of implicit bias training in NYPD 3) How to enhance accountability in police departments

Note Taking Document- Policing and Racial Issues

Two paragraph response prompt...

Paragraph one- data article

- What key data was reported in this article? What similarities and what differences were discovered? What conclusions can you make from looking at the data?

- How does this data help us understand racial issues in policing and communities across the US?

- What impact does this information have on police officers? What about the general public?

Paragraph two- solutions

- Before solutions, what does this article suggest are the biggest hurdles our country faces in regards to criminal justice and race?

- What solutions does this article suggest to improve the current climate?

- How will police departments and communities be able to measure success with these strategies?
