Assessment Information

State law (sec.70.32, Wis. Stats.) requires the assessment of taxable property (except agricultural, agricultural forest and undeveloped) at full value as of January 1 each year. Assessments at a percentage of full value are acceptable when applied uniformly. To determine if your assessment is feir, you must analyze it in relation to full value. This is done by dividing your assessment by the general level of assessment for your municipality.

Under Wisconsin law, generally, the Assessor may not change the assessment of property based solely on the recent arm's length sale of the property without adjusting the assessed value of comparable properties in the same market area. For information on the assessment of properties that have recently sold, visit the internet site of the Department of Revenue at https://www.revenue.wi.gov/Pages/ERETR/data-home.aspx.

To Appeal Your Assessment

First, discuss with your local Assessor - Questions can often be answered by the Assessor and not require an appeal to Board of Review (BOR).

To file a formal appeal - Give notice of your intent to appeal by contacting the BOR Clerk at least 48 hours before the BOR begins. Complete and file your appeal form with the BOR Clerk no later than the first two hours of the BOR's first meeting. Make sure you file a completed form or the BOR may not review your appeal

For more information on the appeal process:

- Contact your municipal Clerk listed above
- Review the "Guide for Property Owners" (https://www.revenue.wt.gov/Pages/HTML/govpub.aspx). Contact DOR for a paper copy at bapdor@wisconsin.gov.

Property Assessed Values

Factual Perspectives

Median Wisconsin gross household income in 2023 was $67,000.

Median sale price of a Wisconsin home is $270,000 or 4 times gross median Household Income.

This wildly exceeds the age-old rule of thumb of 2.0-2.5 times your Gross Household income.

Real interest rates adjusted for inflation have been negative from 2010 to 2022.

This has driven excessive median Wisconsin home price escalation from $162,500 in 2010 to $270,000 currently or 1.66X.

Incomes have not kept pace with income only increasing from $49,900 to $67,000 or 1.34X.

44% of single-family homes in 2023 were purchased with private equity seeking quick profits and pushing price escalation as well as rent. This is a major increase from the 10% reported by Pew Research in 2010.

Over 27% of all single-family homes are now owned by private equity (Pew Research). "Invitation Homes" for example, owns more than 80,000 homes.

Implications of Unreal Assessment Process

The single-family home has been the leading source of individual wealth accumulation in the United States, with specious valuations, higher interest rates and increasing rents, this has become a distant dream of the average family particularly first time home buyers.

In addition an existing homeowner may take the increased assessment to the bank for a HELOC putting the home-owner at even greater longterm credit risk.

The family dream being stolen by Wall Street, the assessment process and the age-old economic behaviors of "Rent Seeking".

Specious assessments provide Wall Street the fuel to increase their purchasing as they squeeze the average family out of the market into becoming perpetual renters.

This condition perpetuates the consolidation of wealth to the very wealthy that owns these enterprises.

Many cities have begun to protect single-family homes via special assessments and zoning restrictions.

One may wonder just whom assessors are working for, the families in a community or Wall Street Investors with current methodologies applied to assessment.

In closing, I would recall the classical economic term "Rent Seeking" and encourage everyone here today to keep the term and examples in mind, as we as a community move forward.

Rent Seeking per "Investopedia"

- Rent seeking is an economic concept that occurs when an entity seeks to gain wealth without any reciprocal contribution of productivity.
- "Rent" in rent seeking is based on the economic definition of the term, which is defined as economic wealth obtained through shrewd or potentially manipulative use of resources. A more colloquial way of describing this behavior is "privilege seeking."
- An example of rent seeking is when a company lobbies the government for grants, subsidies, or tariff protection including TIFs.
- Rent seeking comes in many forms from lobbying or donating funds.

Human V

 For example, if you donate money but write it off on your taxes, it could be considered a form of rent seeking.
